Thou Dear Northeast

Edm. May 1846 '14

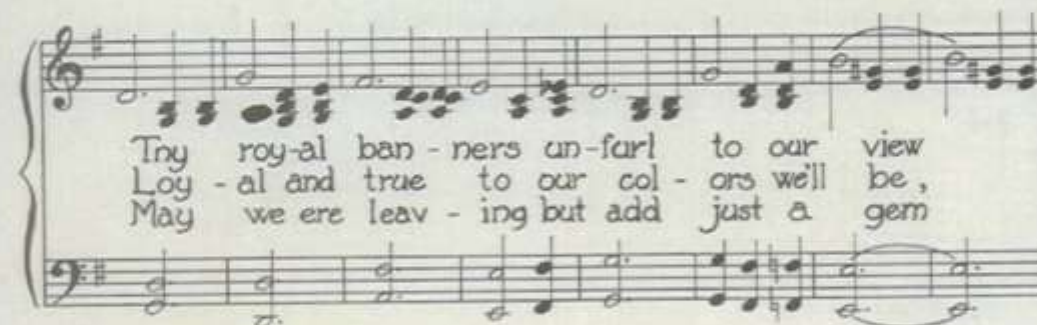

Dr. A. W. Neill

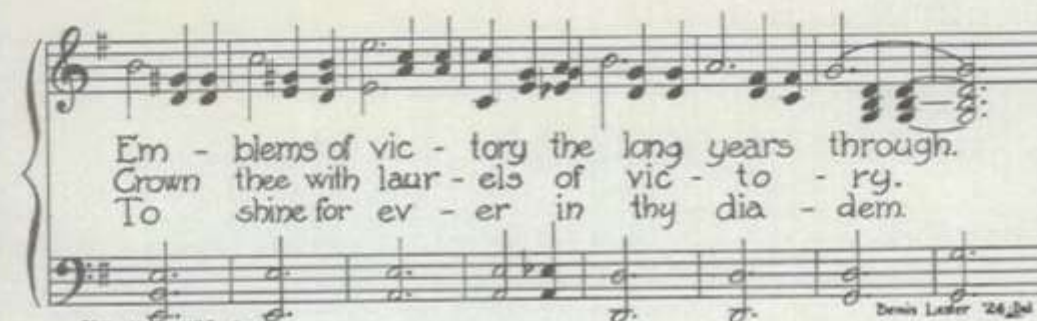

Thou, dear North-east, art the fair - est of all,
With thee, North-east, there is none can com - pare,
We come and go as the years pass - ing by

Peer of all oth - ers, nev - er to fall;
Pur - ple and white a - loft in the air;
Add to thy glo - ry, dear North-east High;

Try roy - al ban - ners un - furl to our view
Loy - al and true to our col - ors we'll be,
May we ere leav - ing but add just a gem

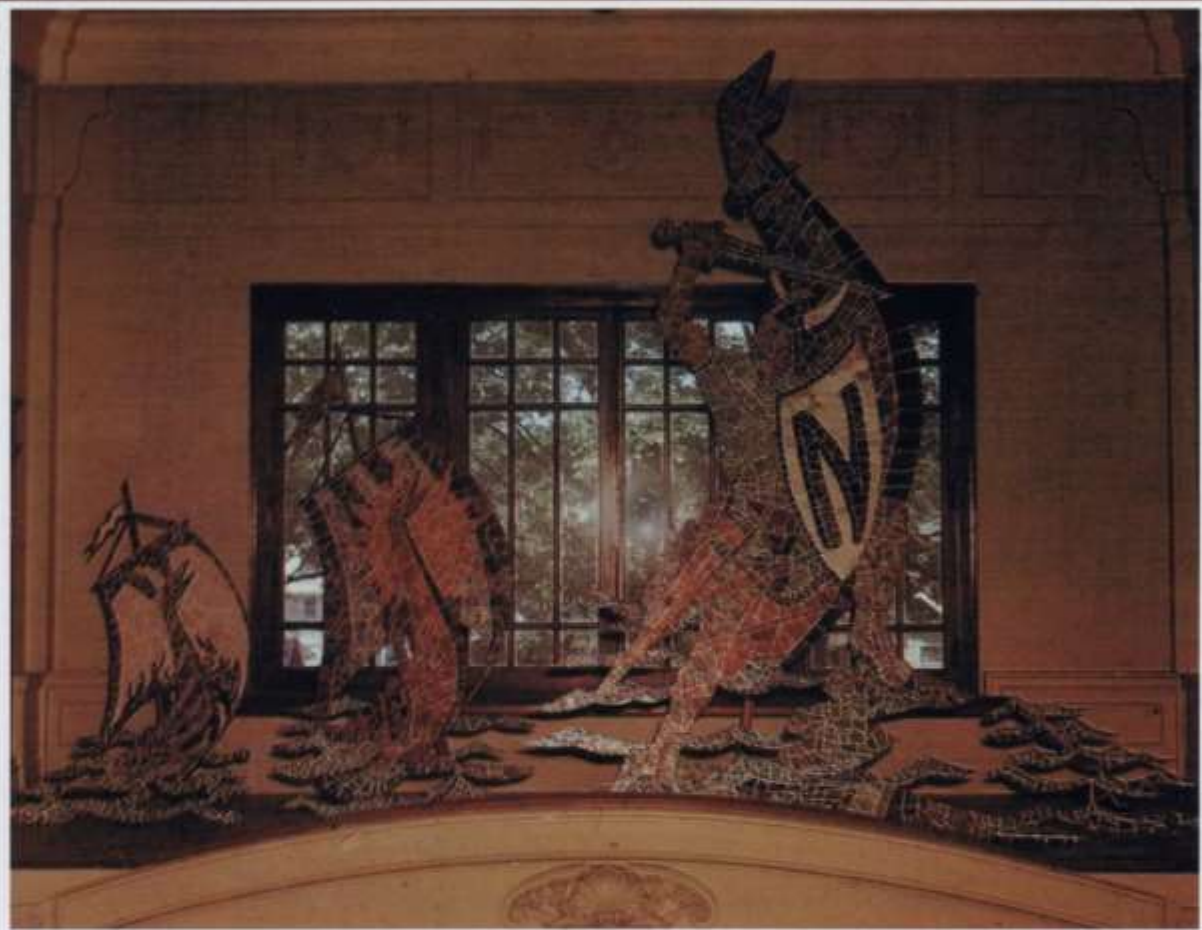

Em - blems of vic - tory the long years through.
Crown thee with laur - els of vic - to - ry.
To shine for ev - er in thy dia - dem.

Northeast High Creed

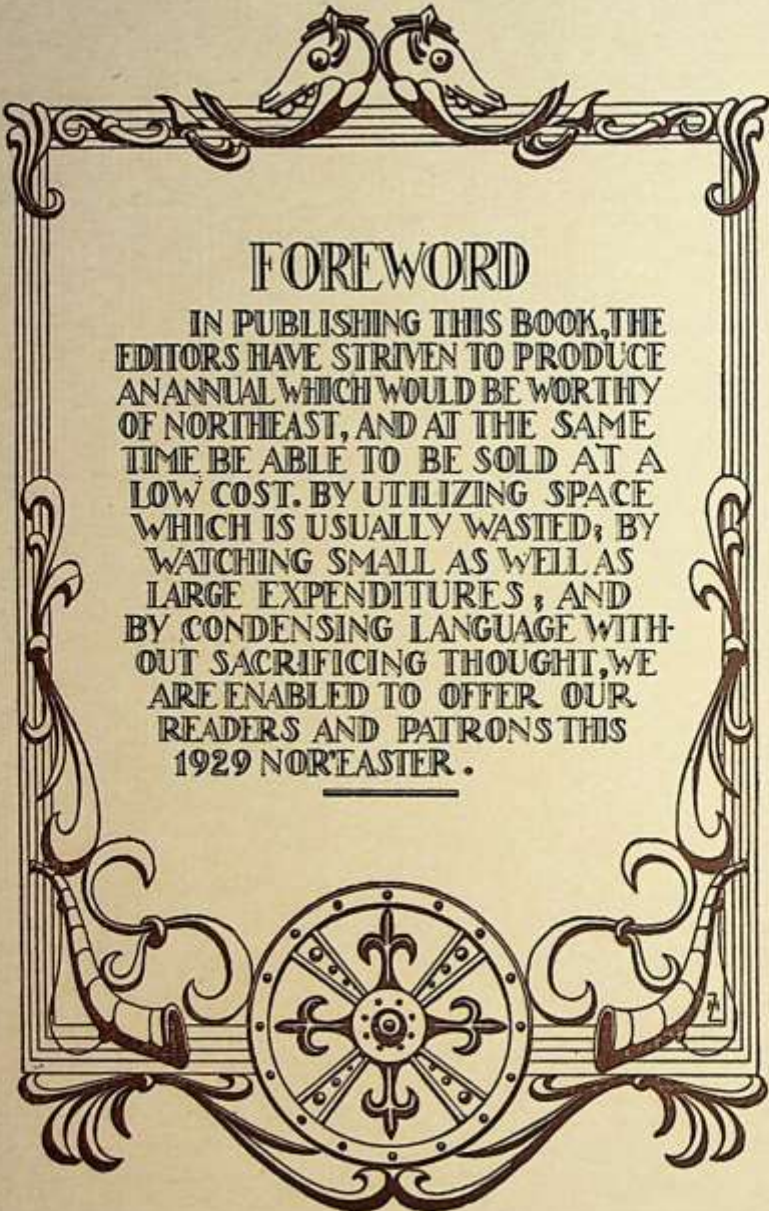

TO NORTHEAST HIGH SCHOOL, I PLEDGE MY
LOYALTY AND ALLEGIANCE. I SHALL LIVE
FOR MY SCHOOL WITH HONOR IN BOTH
WORD AND ACT. I SHALL GIVE THE FULLEST
OF MY STRENGTH, THE BEST OF MY THOUGHT,
THE TRUEST OF MY CONSCIENCE, AND THE WHOLE OF MY SPIRIT. IN VICTORY OR DE-FEAT, I SHALL KEEP THE FAITH.

NOREASTER

EDITED BY THE
NOREASTER STAFF
NORTHEAST HIGH SCHOOL
KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI
VOLUME XVI

FOREWORD

IN PUBLISHING THIS BOOK, THE EDITORS HAVE STRIVEN TO PRODUCE AN ANNUAL WHICH WOULD BE WORTHY OF NORTHEAST, AND AT THE SAME TIME BE ABLE TO BE SOLD AT A LOW COST. BY UTILIZING SPACE WHICH IS USUALLY WASTED, BY WATCHING SMALL AS WELL AS LARGE EXPENDITURES, AND BY CONDENSING LANGUAGE WITHOUT SACRIFICING THOUGHT, WE ARE ENABLED TO OFFER OUR READERS AND PATRONS THIS 1929 NORTHEASTER.

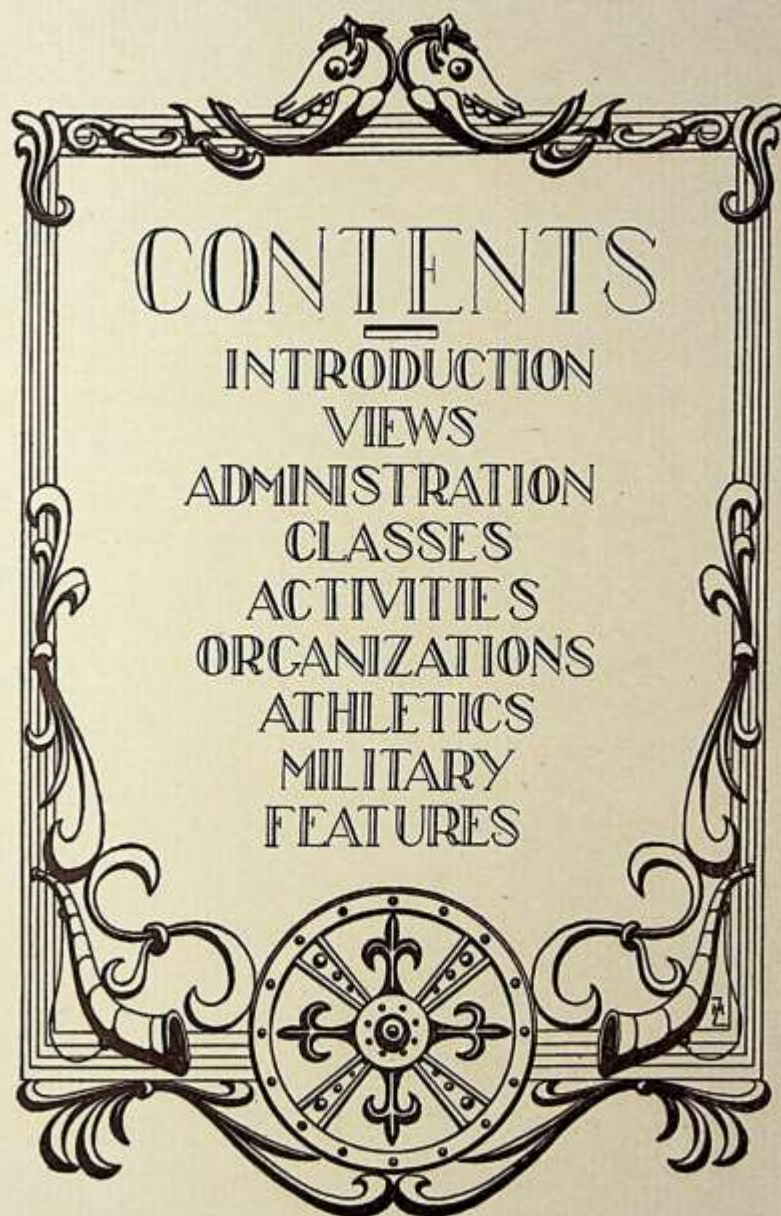

DEDICATION

FIFTEEN YEARS HAVE PASSED
SINCE THE ERECTION OF THAT IM-POSING STRUCTURE KNOWN AS
THE NORTHEAST HIGH SCHOOL.
TODAY IT STANDS, NOT ONLY A CLASSIC MONUMENT OF
BRICK AND STONE, BUT A
LIVING TEMPLE OF LEARNING.
ITS IDEALS ARE HIGH AND ITS TRADITIONS ARE WELL FOUNDED.
TO THAT PEER OF SCHOOLS,
"NORTHEAST," WE DEDICATE
THIS 1929 NOREASTER

Row 1—Proun; Workman; Primm; White; Horn; Spurrier; Gunn; Tuttle; Williams.

The Northeast Parent-Teacher Association was organized in June, 1921, with the following objects: To promote child welfare in the home, school, church, and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure more adequate laws for the care and protection of women and children; to bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may co-operate intelligently in the training of the child; and to develop between educators and the general public, such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, moral and spiritual education.

For sunlit hours and vision clear,
For all remembered faces dear,
For comrades of a single day,
Who sent us stronger on our way,
For friends who shared the year's long road,
And bore with us the common load,
For hours that levied heavy toll,
But brought us nearer to our goal,
For insights won through toil and grief,
We are grateful to "Thou dear Northeast".

We, the class of 1930, wish the members of the class of '29 on their departure, the best of luck and unending success in future life. May we in turn leave the pages of Northeast's history as pure and unsullied as they are when entrusted to us by the graduating class. May we set an example for the future classes of the school that will surpass even the high standards maintained by the class of 1929.

Alumni

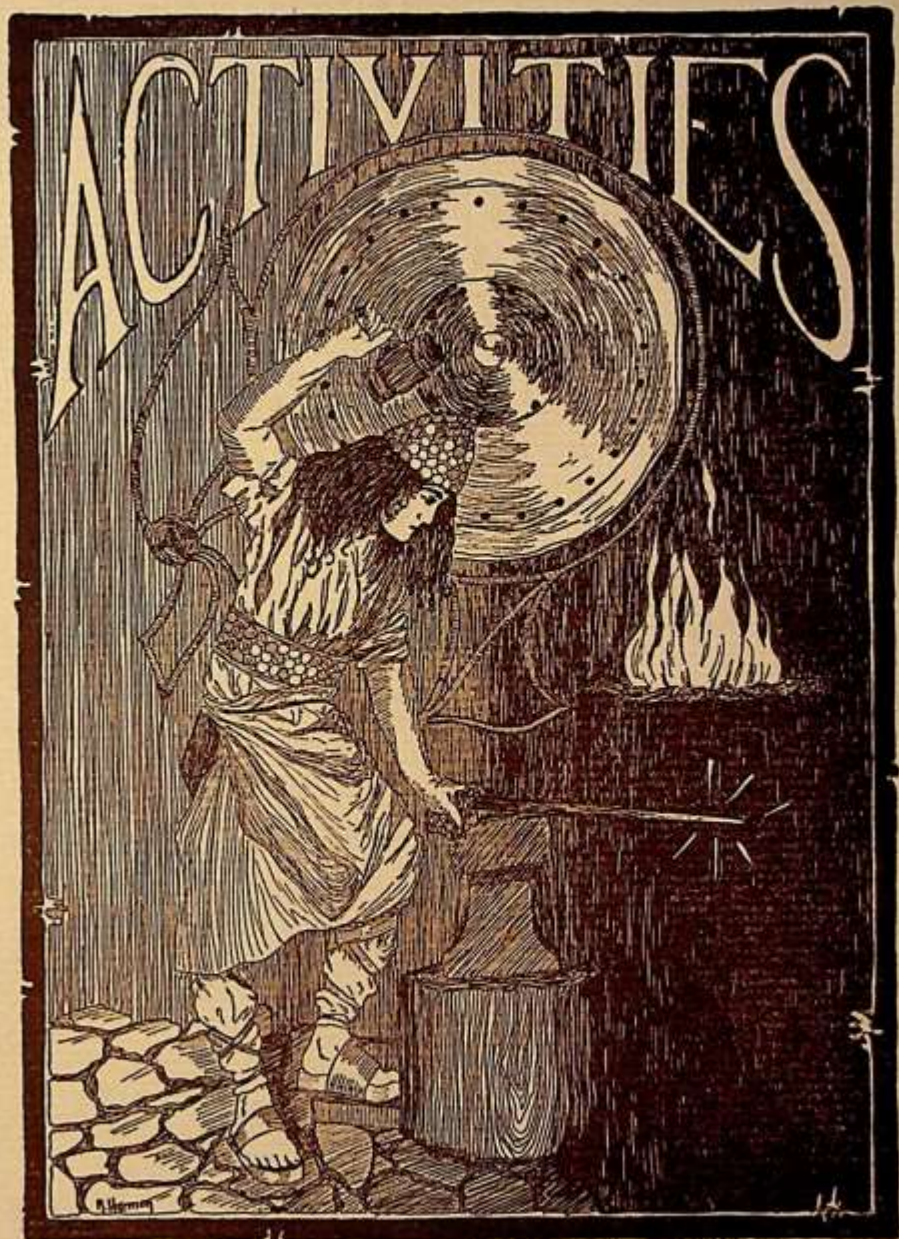

As come the annual flowers
And budding of the trees,
As regularly as the tides
And song birds' melodies;
As comes the breath of spring
To make the world seem bright
There come to gladden our school,
The Alumni on Northeast Night.

Our loyal Nor'easters have realized the necessity of a strong support from their older brothers and sisters of that great alumni group in order to keep the standards and ideals of "Thou dear Northeast" beautiful and high. In bringing about this closer relationship and brotherhood they have invited the alumni to come on Northeast Night, for the last three years, reserving the gymnasium for their dance. It is hoped that this will always be the big annual event.

This year the reunion occurred March 8, Ray Hudgen's orchestra furnished the music, and as the purpose was directed toward a social end, there was no business meeting. A big showing was made, there being over two-hundred and fifty alumni present, many of whom represented the very earliest years. According to the alumni register signed that night, those of the class of '28 numbered the most, '27 made a close second and '23 third. The predominating occupations pertained to the business world.

Like the sun that sends out its glorifying rays, this gathering brightened Northeast Night. Outside the gymnasium were shouts from the barkers, laughter, cheers, gaiety of side shows, a spicy main show, amid the scent of refreshments; inside, however, this noise was not noticed; for there lay the thrill of old friendships renewed in a bewitching atmosphere. While the orchestra played, all the past years were lived over again. To be sure, the abundant entertainment and dancing was very delightful but the real joy was not so much in this recreation as it was in that emotional undercurrent of a true and sacred devotion one for the other, and love for the school. Perhaps the outside would not understand this, but they must wait until they too join the great army of alumni. May we forever have such rare and enviable reunions.

The most important issue of the Student Council during the first semester, was the adoption of a suitable creed for Northeast High School. This work was carried through very successfully under the supervision of a student committee and faculty committee, and the hearty co-operation of the student body.

The work of the second semester consisted in the establishment of the following school measures:

1. Any student having no grade below 5 should be eligible for the General Honor Roll, providing he is not eligible for the Highest Honor Roll.
2. The Major of the R. O. T. C. will be awarded five (5) honor points each semester.
3. The Sponsor Major of the R. O. T. C. will be awarded two (2) honor points the semester in which she acts as sponsor.
4. The stage assistants, appointed by Mr. Pinkney, will be awarded three (3) honor points each semester.

"Peg O' My Heart" was given as the annual Christmas Play on December 8 and 9.

This well-known play is the story of an Irish girl transplanted from carefree America into a staid English family. Her problems in making friends with the cold blooded English and keeping peace between her dog, Micheal, and Ethel's poodle, are both amusing and pathetic. However, "Peg O' My Heart" wins over all difficulties.

The merry colleen was made very lovable and entertaining by the skillful efforts of Harley Ferguson.

Delphine Feiring was very fine as the aristocratic, upstage daughter of the English family.

Anna Marie Balsiger's portrayal of the proud, unrelenting English mother was near perfection.

Howard Horn, the worthless scion, and Junior Guenther, the dignified butler, contributed a great deal of humor.

James McClintock played the part of Peggy's English lover very well.

Lee Montgomery made a typical villain.

A great interest was added to the play by the use of dialects. The English accents of the Chitchester family was in marked contrast to the brogue of Irish Peg.

The success of the play was greatly indebted to the ceaseless efforts and tireless coaching of Miss Helen Hobbs.

On Friday and Saturday evenings, May 17 and 18, the Seniors presented one of the most mysterious and thrilling productions ever presented in the Northeast auditorium. "The Thirteenth Chair", by Bayard Veiller, won the complete approbation of the entire audience with its well woven plot and clever characterization.

Out of the mystical depths of a spiritualistic seance, death comes to Edward Wales, who was attempting to wrest from the dead the name of the murderer of his friend, Spencer Lee. Although the cream of the force, Inspector Donohue, is called to take charge of the case, it is only through the ingenuity and quick wit of Rosalie La Grange, the medium, that the murderer is discovered and her daughter, Helen O'Neill, is saved from the grim accusation that surrounded her.

Special recognition should be given to both Marcia Ritter and Maebelle Parsons for their clever impersonation of the quaint little Irish medium.

The Nor'easter Staff

"Brevity is the soul of wit."—Shakespeare.

Under a policy of strict financial economy, the Nor'easter has undergone a certain amount of condensing and abbreviating. But instead of seeming chopped and inadequate, it is, on the contrary, more concise and compact.

The Nor'easter Staff of '29 has endeavored to give to the history of Northeast an annual that is equal in quality and workmanship to all of those Nor'easters whose merits have received state-wide recognition in other years.

Through the co-operation of the student body and the efficient organization of the staff under strong central management, the year's work has been carried on with the highest degree of smoothness. Evidence of the hearty student co-operation is seen in such incidents as Senior and group picture campaign and the first and second subscription sales.

On Friday, April 19, the sixteenth annual literary contest was held at Northeast. This contest composed of representative entrants from all of the eight literary societies and the school-at-large, is the final judging of oral events and the presentation of the various medals. Custom has decreed that this event should be gala and boisterous, all of the societies being dressed in their respective colors and bursting into songs or yells as the mood may strike them, the only precedent being that they drowned out the other societies.

'29 marks a most unusual incident, the School-at-Large and the Alphas tied for first place—the first tie on record.

Oration

THE SPIRIT OF ACHIEVEMENT

First Place in Oratory by Milton Bobier

The story of man has been a record of achievement. Each advance, in turn, has increased the store of human knowledge, lifting the plane of civilization to a higher level. Achievement has always been the ambition of man, and noble achievement is the only enduring monument to his endeavor.

For centuries after the fall of the Roman Empire, history records no great achievement. This is a period of darkness and gloom, of wars and pestilence, of serfdom and feudalism. With the Renaissance, the world was born again to a new and greater era, the era of progressive achievement. The experiments of Galileo, Roger Bacon, and Torricelli pointed the way to the dawn of a new day of scientific achievement. Raphael, Angelo, and Da Vinci created the road which we today still travel in our search for art.

Little did the world realize the importance of Hertz's experiments in electromagnetic waves at the time they were performed. Today they stand realized in the telegraph. We today are confounded by Einstein's theories of relativity, but the day will undoubtedly come when they will pave the way to a common understanding of the laws of the entire universe. Faraday's experiments in electricity, unpractical as they seemed at the time, are the basis of our great electrical age. Although these men did not live to see their efforts justified, we today are using the development of their contributions to the world. Achievement in medicine, in surgery, in social welfare, and in food preservation have been added to produce a healthier, safer world for a modern civilization.

Progressive achievement has made possible the modern educational system. Was it not Melancthon, Luther's friend, who dared to face the opposition of the clergy to found the first German schools? Was it not Ruskin, who by his original progressive thought, left as his mark the public schools of England? Was it not Horace Mann who conceived of our present day system of schools, whence all may go in search for knowledge?

Achievement is a building which never reaches its highest peak. It is better described as the peak toward which men aim their efforts, and never hope to gain. Each advance is but a step toward the final goal.

The American Constitution, proclaimed as the greatest document of its kind the world has ever known, was not the result of a single effort, but the masterful culmination of a series of gigantic progressions in political government.

Underlying these achievements has been an unwritten factor in the equation of man's success. What is there that motivates man's conquest of the laws of nature? Only that unconquerable spirit of conquest, the spirit of achievement. Driven by this, men have explored the far corners of the earth. Impelled by its force, they have sacrificed their property and even their lives to satisfy it. On that spirit rests the future of our civilization, the happiness and prosperity of generations yet to come.

To us there opens an opportunity for achievement as never before in the history of the world. The foundation of the past is laid. It is our duty to erect the building of tomorrow, to leave for others a nobler, greater achievement. It was expressed in the words of Oliver Wendel Holmes, when he said:

"Build thee more stately mansions,
Oh my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea."

Essay

ENCYCLOPEDIAS

First Place in Essay by Helen Llafet, School-at-Large.

Encyclopedias have a fatal attraction for me. Very often it is necessary for me to look in one to read about some subject. Whenever I do, I always allow twice as much time as is necessary, for I know that I shall get sidetracked on to some irrelevant but intensely interesting subject.

There is a public library within convenient walking distance of my home, and in it there is a very new and complete encyclopedia comprising about twenty-five volumes. They are bound in a dark salmon red binding with gold lettering on the back, presenting a most aristocratic and intellectual appearance.

This first volume—how inviting it looks! And when opened, it exudes an odor of new paper and printer's ink—a fragrance far sweeter to me than all the perfumes of Araby.

On the back there appears the cryptic symbol "A-Arabie". It sounds very fascinating. Then comes a preface in very small type which sets forth in a wordy and complete way "the purposes and aims of the New International Encyclopedia". Let's skip that.

Then comes a list of people who have written articles for this encyclopedia. Ah! this promises to be more entertaining—some people have most remarkable funny names, though I really should not laugh at other folk's names, for I suppose mine sounds as queer to them. But I am sure they won't care this time, for I mean no disrespect. Let me see—here is one; Washington Irving Lincoln Adams, who contributed an article on Photography. I think it would be funny to hear a pompous butler announce that name to a drawing room full of fashionable folk. I wonder how Carl Henry Andrew Bjeregaard pronounces his name? He must be an eminent authority on his subject, which is Satanism, whatever that may be.

And here is a Mr. Katz—he's the katz pajama's, I suppose. And here are seven Mr. Smith's. I'm glad of that for one likes to see even an encyclopedia have the common touch—a something that makes the reader feel at home immediately.

The first article deals with the letter A. We find that the letter A stands first in nearly ever alphabet, an exception being the Runic Futhark, where it comes fourth. I'm sure, however, that it makes no difference to me.

Here is a lovely shining page with pictures of intricate and mysterious looking airpumps. I suppose it is very instructive, but I don't believe I'll look into the subject just now.

Let's pause a moment and look at the picture of Amiens cathedral before it was destroyed by the war. It looks so solid and enduring and peaceful that any agnostic would be convinced of the reality of God merely by looking at it, I'm sure.

Saints preserve us! Here are eleven pages devoted to Arabia and Arabian things. I have always wanted to go to Arabia and ride a camel, or, failing that, at least to learn the Arabian language. Oriental languages and the Orient are very fascinating, to me at least.

That ends the first volume, although the A's have not been exhausted. There are more interesting things in this world than I supposed possible.

Now let's look into another volume. This one includes Hawaii and Image Worship, two rather correlated subjects. At least, I suppose that the Hawaiians worshipped images up to a comparatively recent date. However, I may be wrong. I usually am on such subjects. Like airpumps, it isn't a necessary part of my existence. I see that they have Blue Laws there, which sounds peculiar to me. I never heard of Blue Laws in a tropical place before. How do they enforce them?

As I read on farther, I find that the climate is neither too warm nor too cold. Personally, I dislike abrupt changes in weather, so Hawaii seems to be just the place for me to spend my declining years. I only hope that there are neither mosquitos, unpleasant bugs nor reptiles, for they are my pet abominations.

About ten pages farther on, I find the story of Helen, the fair lady famed in song and story. From the account of her in the encyclopedia, I gather that she was a preferred blonde, somewhat like Lorelei Læe, a blonde of more recent vintage.

Here are some charming views of several types of lady hogs, consuming fillet of hay and corn on the cob in a most cultured and refined way. I always like to learn of various customs, especially in the way of food.

Next I find a picture of Homer, and I must confess to a slight feeling of disappointment, for his hair looks as though it had recently been permanently waved, and his whole appearance seems dejected and not at all like a poet who has such marvelous epics to his credit. However, no famous person ever looks like one's conception of him.

This next article has only one funny sentence in it. The person that wrote it obviously did not intend it to be funny—which is only an added attraction. The sentence is: "In cities there is a greater degree of abandonment on the part of females." Possibly no one but me would see how funny it is.

Another entertaining subject is optical illusions. It has always seemed to me that seeing is believing, but this article shatters my illusions. This is profusely illustrated with neat diagrams with instructions and explanations.

In glancing over this volume, I am filled with awe and wonder. How long, I wonder, does it take to compile the material? It must be a tremendous undertaking, but it would be so pleasant to have a whole encyclopedia to his credit. What a grand and glorious feeling!

The last volume is always interesting, for the editors have kindly included a reading list, which they modestly assert is as comprehensive as possible. Men are rather egotistical, especially editors, for they never miss any opportunity to compliment themselves. It is quite amusing and instructive to run down the list and see all the sub-topics under each main heading.

Here, under the Minor Nations of Europe, are listed several countries and under them are listed kings and queens, places and manufactures in an amazing way. For instance, under Sweden are listed Charles XVII, Gustavus I-V, Caps and Hats, and Charles XIV!

Goodness! I had no idea that there were so many Asian tribes. They have such very queer names. Here is one named Kurds—kurds and whey, I suppose.

Of all unfathomable subjects, I think Chemistry is the worst. I never could understand it, but I know it's a science that we could not live without. There are so many queer topics. I think all chemists must be slightly mad, or else they wouldn't name their discoveries such unpronounceable names. They must also be possessed of a monster ego, for there are a lot of processes and laws named after people.

Now here is something really sensible—home economics and interior decorating. These are subjects of prime importance to everyone, for everyone has a home of some sort.

Here is a list of unique and enthralling diseases. As I read them, I am convinced that I have Hysteria, Sea Sickness and Lucid Intervals. I believe I'm also a victim of Pulse and Thirst—no, I was mistaken, for those are not diseases, but symptoms. However, I'm sure I'm doomed.

Truly, this encyclopedia is a fearsome work; it must have taken many months of hard labor to complete it and get it ready to be published.

Encyclopedias have been known from early times. I wish I could read Greek, for I'd like to read one of the earliest efforts. How odd it would seem to read those peculiar and odd theories of the ancient Greeks.

I'm convinced that there is nothing quite so absorbing and delightful as an encyclopedia. It always leaves me with a renewed sense of my unimportance, since there are so many people who know vastly more than I can ever hope to know. But it also convinces me anew that

"The world is so full of a number of things
I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings."

Poem

A SENTINEL ON GUARD

First Place in Poem by Ruth Hill, Delta.

Kansas City, favored as we say,
By all who live within her bounds,
Is being guarded by a sentinel, who stands both day and night
Upon a hill of green.

Little does he heed the units of the mass—as they go to and fro.
For he sees all alike—each busy with the care of day.
Some can't remember why he stands in all his stateliness and signals cloud by day and fire by night.
They do not hear the tread of feet that marched eleven years ago.
It is the sentinel—on that hill of green,

That creates love for city and for state,
Within the hearts of men both young and old.
Who, served their country when the bugle called—"Fall in!"
It is the memory of the dead that we commemorate

With monuments of stone.
Our sentinel is placed—
"Lest we forget!"
The names within remind us of a trust,
"To you from falling hands we throw the torch; be yours to hold it high."

Short Story

OLD SILVER

First Place in Short Story by Enna Mary Manning, Alpha.

James Vance dug his hands deeper into his overcoat pockets as he turned the corner into Trader's Lane. The wind chilled him; and while he bent nearly double to keep the wind and snow from his face, he realized how long it had been since he had walked along that street.

Trader's Lane was a transplanted London street that had, fortunately or unfortunately, dropped in America. It was like a vagrant little milk pod seed that had been blown into a conventional garden. The small bake shop advertised on a very English wrought iron sign, that it would bake fowls and Saturday night's beans in its ovens, for customers. Mr. Vance was not the waist coated gentleman of leisure who should have been walking along the Lane. His clothes bespoke the bustle of modern times, and of the prosperity of them. They showed only too plainly that it had been some time since he had tasted the frugality of Trader's Lane.

Squeezed in among the other stores, like a letter in an already too crowded file, was a small unpretentious novelty store. It was at the portal of this holder of jumbled antiquities that James Vance stopped and banged the brass knocker. The knocker itself had been imported from London and showed the influence of Greek culture on that city, for it was cast in the likeness of the mask of Comedy. It was some time before the upper half of the door slowly opened in response to his summons, since no one hurried in Trader's Lane. A pretty blond girl, wearing a green smock, answered his rap. She held in her hand an antiquated feather duster, which in the Lane was merely a badge of trade, and not of any real use. Finally, after learning—to her joy—that he was not a customer, but a childhood friend who had come to see her father, she admitted him.

The inside of the store was a wonder to behold. Porcelain cats in large congregations, stared with green unmoving eyes from the tops of gate leg tables. Peacock feather fans lay open on carved sea chests. Pewter ware rested wherever there was room and wall brackets hung burdened with bric-a-brac treasures of the past. There were finely carved chairs from Italy, tooled Cordovan from Spain, tiny miniatures from France, and lace from Belgium. Carved wood and intricate clocks from Switzerland. Pottery from the Black Forest of Germany, and exquisite Dresden figures. Lace-like ivories from India. Mandarines and fans from China and Japan. Over all, and pervading all, was the old English spirit and the odor of old English lavender.

The slim blond summoned her father who, in his green velvet coat and small black skull cap, was Dickens' own. It did not take James long to explain his purpose in coming to his father's old friend. While Miss Elizabeth Manchester, the green smocked blond, listened intently, James explained that although as a little boy he had lived in Trader's Lane, he had resolved, even then, not to be a poorly paid doctor, as his father had been, but to be a rich city specialist, living off the fat of the land, in the midst of life that lived. James became more animated in his description of the pulsating city of New York, while Mr. Manchester puffed serenely on a long stemmed pipe. James thought him disconcerting. Why was he so indifferent? He had always supposed that every one living in Trader's Lane wished to climb to the top in the bustle of life as he himself had done.

James told them that he had now come back to Trader's Lane to rid himself of some silver left by his father, in Mr. Manchester's attic. It was at the mention of the word "silver" that Mr. Manchester showed intense interest.

He said, "You have the key, my son. I have not seen the silver for many years, —yet, I may buy it."

Elizabeth smiled and asked her father if he thought he would find the rest of his Apostle set in Mr. Vance's collection, and why Mr. Vance did not want to keep so valuable a chest of silver. After she had spoken, her father turned to James saying that perhaps he wouldn't mind answering a few questions. James declared he would be pleased to do so. The aged collector smoked in silence for a few moments, then asked quietly of James what life had given him, and who he was in New York. James hastened to assure him that he had everything he desired in being a famous and rich doctor.

The old man was silent for a little while, and then asked, "Have you everything you want? Do you desire nothing better or more?"

James considered a long moment, then said, "Nothing, sir."

Mr. Manchester smiled, puffed at his pipe, then turning he said, "If this is true, my son, you have lost the purpose and meaning of life. No," he continued, "that is not strong enough—you are dead. It is not we, it is you. Your father could have had what you hold so dear, yet he preferred to help his neighbors and friends, and even his enemies for nothing, rather than beggar them with heavy fees. Elizabeth, my daughter, and I would have parted company long ago if it had not been for your father's charity. I wonder if you and Elizabeth would mind getting the chest of silver."

Elizabeth led the way up a cluttered flight of back stairs to a dusty garret. There, by the dim light of a dormer window, she felt her way to a beautifully carved chest. James followed close behind her, and tried to talk about the unusual weather and the very charming shop.

Suddenly Elizabeth faced him, laying her hand on the initials carved on the chest. She turned toward the window.

James asked, "What is the matter, Elizabeth—pardon, Miss Manchester?"

Finally she said slowly, "I was thinking that your father always hoped you would continue his practice here. We haven't any doctor in Trader's Lane now, and yet there are many sick people. How very kind your father was to all of us! My father and I owe him a great deal—more than we can ever repay, but I shall always try to thank him by doing as he wished me to do."

"What did he wish you to do?" James asked softly.

"He wanted me to care for the sick, and I am doing that, but I need help. Wouldn't it be wonderful if you could—but, pardon me, you are a great city specialist," added Elizabeth shyly. "Please help me lift the chest."

James, however, did not move, but stood gazing at a dusty spinning wheel in the corner.

"I wonder," he said at last, "if you know what you are trying to ask me to do, Miss Manchester. You are asking me to sacrifice my profession and all that means life to me. You are asking me to do this merely to please a memory, the memory of a man who wasted his life foolishly for others. I am sorry, but I am afraid I do not understand you," he added stiffly.

Elizabeth frowned, saying, "You do not seem to care to understand me because you realize who is the really foolish one. I shall say that all my life I have vowed that I would repay,—no, try to repay,—your kindness to me. Perhaps you do not remember a thin little girl who was very sick with pneumonia,—a little girl whose family lived in a very small house and were extremely poor. I will never forget it, for I was that little girl. But back to my point, do you remember that it was your care that—"

"Yes, I remember," smiled the famous doctor, "that was my first great case."

"Oh, yes, but doesn't it mean something more to you in that it was an act of kindness? Doesn't it mean something to you that you saved a life, and a home? Your father was very proud of you, and often when he was caring for my father during his long illness, did he say with pride that some day you would be a great doctor. He was right, in a way, but such a different way than we thought. If only you could have followed the example of your first case."

"I am afraid you give me too much credit, my dear," smiled James. "I took that case because the little girl had such beautiful blue eyes. I did not expect her to remember me, though. And perhaps that same little girl can explain to me why she has so many newspaper clippings about a famous doctor, if she doesn't admire him."

You will notice them stuck between the spinning wheel and the wall, my dear," James said smiling.

"Please help me with the chest," said a slightly pinker Elizabeth.

They carried it down the stairs without a word passing between them. Mr. Manchester turned as he saw them and came over with the duster, eagerly waiting while James turned the key in the rusty lock. On top of the silver there was a letter to James from his father explaining the histories of the silver, and showing plainly his father's love for it.

James read it carefully several times, while Mr. Manchester looked over the silver, saying, "My, my, your father did without a new suit a very long time for this piece," and "How happy your mother was when he got this spoon."

There was a knock at the door, and Elizabeth answered it. Coming back she announced that it was Mrs. Browning who came to get her because Mr. Browning had fallen and broken his leg.

Then she held out her hand to James, and said with a smile, "I guess I will not see you again, Mr. Vance, as you want to take the 5:30 train for New York. I hope, however, as a parting volley from my side, that I shall get blisters on my hands cutting out articles about a wealthy, famous, handsome, proud, selfish, and conceited doctor. Well, good-bye."

"Miss Manchester, do you think I could make you drop some of those numerous adjectives?" Mr. Vance asked with a smile.

"Sure, lose your money and your good looks," said Elizabeth laughing, and pulling her hat snugly down over her golden curls.

"Well, Miss Manchester, I don't know just how to punish you, unless it is to pour coals on your head. So here is the statement of a conceited man. I came down to Trader's Lane and to this hallowed home town of yours, just to start a charity hospital for my young students. A school for surgeons, if you wish, that I am going to name for my father. If you had not been so hard on me, I might have told you instead of quarreling with you. As for that silver of mine, see if you can get it. Just to spite you, I am going to move across the street in my old home, and let you see me pine away. Now, I think I will go with you in spite of your abuse."

"There was nothing said in the papers about you coming down here," said Elizabeth, happy and astonished.

"No, my perfect clipping bureau, why should I help some other doctor to get my splendid opening?"

"Well, we must hurry," said Elizabeth, as she unlatched the door, and with James following, went out.

Mr. Manchester puffed his pipe, closed the lower half of his shop door, and stood smiling at the house across the way.

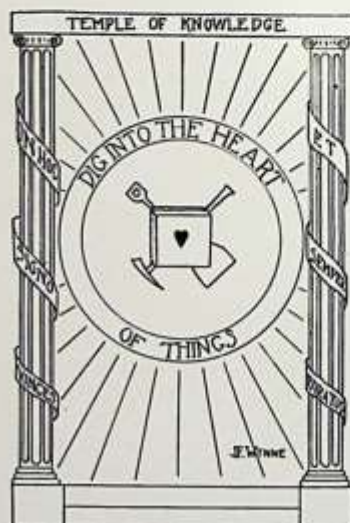

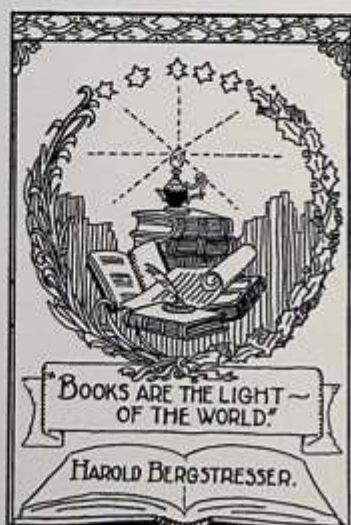

BOOK PLATES

Northeast's Book-Plate...

It is highly gratifying that such an artistic feature as the Bookplate section has been persistently maintained as an unusual characteristic of our Nor'easter Annual for fourteen years.

The original motives of Mr. E. D. Phillips for introducing bookplates into the Senior English literature course were 1st, to cultivate the aesthetic taste and talent of the students; 2nd, to stimulate the desire to develop their efficiency in practical directions, such as the designing of cartoons and posters, as well as making illustrations for books that call for pictorial expression; and 3rd, to correlate literature with the department of art and design. Such a policy contributes greatly to the profit as well as pleasure of the whole school, and doubtless is one reason why the "Nor'easter Annual" has won so many enviable honors, both in the Missouri state inter-scholastic contests, conducted by the Missouri State University School of Journalism, and likewise at Minneapolis Interstate Contest in Journalism.

Too much credit cannot be given to Miss Laura Clark, the director of the department of Art and Design, for so generously and successfully coaching our embryonic artists in designing and finishing their bookplates.

Special Honors

Row 2—Newton; Pratt; King; Hendrick; Scott; Lynch; Muzzy.
Row 1—Jewell; Erickson; Parsons; McCarty; Slagle; Vaughn; Hall.

It is very unusual for a Junior to represent Northeast in the Star's Oratorical Contest at Convention Hall, but this year Arthur Young won that honor with his splendid oration "The Constitution—a Guarantee of the Liberty of the Individual." George Lynch placed second with "The Citizen—His Duties and Privileges under the Constitution."

Maebelle Parsons was given second place in the city-wide Civic Forum Contest with her oration, "Solving Kansas City's Traffic Problem." Sherwood Newton was awarded second place in the preliminary tryout.

Norma Erickson won first place and Flora Lee Jewel second place in the R. O. T. C. Poster Contest.

The octette of Helen Slagle, Rosa Lee Hall, Lucille Vaughn, Jewel McCarty, Thorsell Pratt, James Muzzy, James Scott and George Lynch won over all the other mixed choruses in the city.

Harry Hendrick was victor in the bass solo and Mayflor Gunn was awarded third place in the alto solo.

William King represented Northeast in a speech at the Mayor's Christmas Tree.

WINNINGS AT UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET MAY 2, 3 AND 4, 1929, COLUMBIA, MO.

Northeast Spanish Department ranked first in the state and received a placque with bronze seal of University of Missouri.

Girls' High School Club

The Girls' High School Club is a friendly, Christian organization, the only club to which every girl in school is eligible. Its members, Girl Reserves, are striving to live four-square lives and be true to the purpose of the club, which is "To find and give the best". Their symbol is a blue triangle whose sides represent Health, Knowledge, and Spirit. Their activities are those which best work out the things for which they stand.

One of the most interesting events of the year was the Girls Reserve Alumnae Banquet, at which there were representatives for every year as far back as 1915.

Each year a Junior girl is chosen to be the honor girl of the club because of her outstanding qualities as a Girl Reserve. Eleanor Shane is the Frances Scarritt Hanley girl for this year.

THE ALPHA LITERARY SOCIETY

The Alpha Literary Society was organized October 13, 1913. During the sixteen years of its existence, it has striven to fulfill its motto, "Esse Quam Videri", "To be rather than to seem." The gold and white has gained literary supremacy in the annual contest five times, in 1914, 1916, 1921, 1926 and 1929.

The social events given this year were: a dance given with the Thetas, Debaters and Delphians the evening of November 28th and a bridge tea at the Hotel Bellevue. The society is advised by Miss Stella Sizemore.

NORTHEAST SOCIETY OF DEBATE

The Northeast Society of Debate, organized in 1913, is the oldest boys' society in the school and is second in age of all societies. The Debaters, organized originally for debate and literary activities, has in its sixteen years of existence widened its scope so that now it is truly representative of every recognized branch of school life. The honor rolls, class cabinets, Senior ballots, and the R. O. T. C. are but a part of the groups that obtain leaders from the roster of N. S. D.

NORTHEAST SHAKESPEARE CLUB

The Northeast Shakespeare Club was organized in 1914 to study and enjoy the works of William Shakespeare. The members adopted as their motto, "It is not the trappings of knowledge, but wisdom itself". Black and gold are the colors, and the flower is the violet.

The Shakespeares strive to uphold high standards of scholarship, and to maintain the ideals and traditions that are beneficial to the society and to the school. A Christmas dance was given December 22, together with the Clonians, Bentons and Deltas. Miss Lettie Evans has acted as adviser since 1923.

DELPHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Delphian Literary Society is the fourth oldest society at Northeast, organized in 1916. It is one of the two mixed societies in the school. The emblem consists of the Keystone and Aster, with purple and gold for its colors. The purpose of the society is the study of English literature.

The social events of the year consisted of a dance November 28, in conjunction with the Thetas, Debaters, and Alphas, and a picnic the last semester. The Delphians have won the literary contest twice, in 1919 and 1923. Miss Elizabeth Taylor has sponsored the society since 1924.

CLONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

For eleven years the Clonians have been organized. Throughout the entire time the girls have striven to live up to their motto "Ta Kta Kte Ete" which means to "Seek the beautiful" and they have successfully upheld the highest standards of scholarship, literary, and social life.

The first semester social event given by this society was the Christmas dance, while the second semester social event was a bridge dinner held at the Hotel La Salle.

Miss Jeanette Davis is the present adviser of the society.

BENTON LITERARY SOCIETY

The Benton Literary Society is one of the two boys' societies at Northeast. It was organized on March 11, 1921, primarily for the purpose of stimulating literary ability and a better appreciation of art. The colors of this society are blue and gold, and the motto is "In Hoc Signo Vincemus". The society is named in honor of Thomas Harte Benton, who distinguished himself by serving for thirty years as Senator from Missouri in the United States Senate.

The first semester social event consisted of an inter-society dance given with the Clonians, Deltas and Shakespeares. Mr. Carl G. Hibbs is adviser for the society.

THETA LITERARY SOCIETY

The Theta Literary Society was organized February 18, 1921. The society took its name from Thoth, the Egyptian god of wisdom. The motto is "Knowledge is Power" and the flower is the Iris, which stands for wisdom, faith, and courage. The colors, blue and white, signify true blue loyalty and purity of girlhood.

The Thetas participated in a Thanksgiving dance given in conjunction with the Alphas, Debaters and Delphians, as their social event for the first semester. The society has been represented in almost every major activity of the school and has won many honors this year. Miss Gertrude Weaver is adviser to the Thetas.

DELTA LITERARY SOCIETY

The Delta Literary Society is the youngest society for girls at Northeast, having been organized February 25, 1921. Its purpose is to uphold the ideals of Northeast, and to promote the literary and social welfare of its members. The colors are green and white, and the flower is the lily of the valley. There are thirty-seven members in the organization and they are prominent in school affairs, both social and curricular, and ever bear in mind their motto, "Always faithful." Miss Gladys Gaylord has acted as adviser for the society since September, 1928.

THE BOYS AQUATIC CLUB

The club was organized in November, 1927, with its chief aim, to offer organization life to a group of boys who were not interested in social functions but desired the advantages afforded by the swimming pool and its surroundings for the improvement and maintenance of good health.

Other aims are improvement in swimming and diving, life saving and some outside water sports such as canoeing, rowing, etc. Mr. Barry Fulton has been the adviser of the club since its organization.

NORTHEAST SEALS

The Northeast Seals were organized in 1927 for a three-fold purpose: to promote health and to encourage sportsmanship and the desire to seek an unusual aquatic ability. The club colors are blue and white and the seal is its emblem. At each meeting instruction is given in form swimming and diving, speed and American Red Cross Life Saving.

Every Northeast night the club presents one of the most original and outstanding performances. The club has as its final social event a swim at Lake Tapawingo. Miss Clayton is adviser for the club.

ART CLUB

The Art Club of Northeast was organized in 1922, for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with artists and their work. Miss Clark is the adviser of the club.

The programs have consisted of guest speakers of travel and art, and programs given by members.

The first semester's social event given by the club consisted of a dance, which was given in conjunction with the Music Appreciation, Mathematics and Commercial Clubs, the evening of Friday, March 1.

NORTHEAST BOTANY CLUB

The Northeast Botany Club was organized in September, 1923, to further the study and appreciation of nature and habits of plant life. The first adviser of the club was Mr. Lovejoy, and the present adviser is Mr. J. E. Fate.

The club endeavors to better acquaint the members with plant life by having hikes and outdoor meetings. To further promote this interest, outside speakers, who are interested in plant life, have given illustrated lectures at meetings of the club. The club pin, a green and silver acorn, carries out the colors and the emblem of the organization.

NORTHEAST COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Northeast Commercial Club was organized March 9, 1922, for the purpose of making an interesting and successful study of the business world and making trips to various business concerns, with the view of finding how their enterprises are carried on. The programs consist of talks and readings valuable along various business lines.

The first semester social event given by the organization, consisted of a dance given March 1, in conjunction with the Music Appreciation, Math., and Art Club.

The Club colors are gold and silver, and its motto is "Efficiency Wins". Mr. Coleman and Miss Janson are the advisers.

NORTHEAST DRAMATIC CLUB

"The Play's the Thing" from Hamlet is the motto of the Northeast Dramatic Club. The purpose of the club is to develop dramatic appreciation and ability among the students. This year because of the large number of club members in the Christmas and Senior Plays, the work of the organization has been carried on in the club meetings.

Plays and readings furnished the programs for the meetings. The colors of the club are French Blue and Crimson and the hyacinth is its flower. The combined Greek masques of Comedy and Tragedy form the pin. The club was organized in 1927 with Miss Burton as the coach and adviser.

NORTHEAST FRENCH CLUB

The French Club has been conducted this year by the first and second year pupils. Heretofore, the work of this club has been done largely by the third and fourth year students. Although, we no longer have these advanced pupils, we feel we have progressed quite successfully. The members have studied many interesting and educational short stories, brief histories, and one-act plays.

At one of the meetings, Mlle. Simonne Koujion gave the club a very interesting talk. Mlle. Koujion is a graduate of Northeast High School and Kansas University. Our social event, a "mixer", with the Spanish Club, was a success.

NORTHEAST LATIN CLUB

The Northeast Latin Club was organized in 1927 by a group of students who were interested in Latin. The object of the club is to afford students an opportunity to further their knowledge of Roman civilization. Talks by members of the faculty who have visited Rome, a study of the life of one of the greatest modern Romans, skits, bearing on the classroom studies, and discussions of the great ruins of Rome, have all greatly furthered this purpose.

Under the leadership and direction of Miss Murdock, the Northeast Latin Club has done much to create an interest in Latin and Ancient Civilization.

HYGEIA CLUB

The Hygeia Club was organized by Miss McElwain during the fall of 1928 for girls interested in planning a positive health program. There were eighteen charter members. During the first semester a part of the time was spent in making plans for the year so that more stress could be placed on social activities during the second semester. It was the aim of the club to spend as much time out of doors as possible. Perhaps the activities enjoyed most by the girls were the hikes, which included picnic lunches, and swimming.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Northeast Mathematics Club was organized in 1916, by a group of students who were interested in Mathematics. The object of the club is to further the mathematical knowledge of its members.

The programs consist of talks on mathematics by members of the club and of the faculty, and the study of the biographies of famous mathematicians. March 1, 1929, the organization helped sponsor a dance in connection with the Music Appreciation, Commercial, and Art Clubs. Mr. White has served as adviser of the club since 1922.

THE MILLIKAN CLUB

The Millikan Club has been this year, as in previous years, advancing the standard of science in Northeast. It is not primarily a social club, but one in which the members are taught to think scientifically.

The members visited an aeroplane factory where the construction to the smallest detail was fully explained. Short wave transmission, was demonstrated and explained, and an explanation of "neon" lights and their application to airport lighting and aviation was given at another meeting.

Mr. Pinkney has served as the club's adviser since its organization.

MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB

The purpose of the Music Appreciation Club, whose membership is approximately forty, is to further the interest in and increase the appreciation of good music. Membership is open to any student who is especially interested in such work. Musical programs are furnished every two weeks by members and friends of the club.

The two outstanding social events of this school year have been the St. Patrick's dance, March 1, in conjunction with three other clubs, and the open meeting at which we entertained the Mathematics and Commercial Clubs.

LA SOCIEDAD CASTELLANA

La Sociedad Castellana fue el primer de club lengua extranjera organizado en septiembre del año, 1914. Todavía se usan las reglas hechas en aquel entonces. Siempre la Sociedad usa el castellano para tratar de los negocios y en la conversacion, habiendo una multa por cada palabra de ingles, y tambien es preciso que todos los miembros tomen parte en la reunion. El lema es "El trabajo lo vence todo" y los colores son rojo y amarillo. La flor es el tulipan. El objeto es ofrecer la oportunidad de hablar y oir el idioma. Hace catorce años que la Senora Bell es consejera.

Los programas consisten en discursos por los miembros y de vez en cuando hay un natural de algun pais de habla espanola. Tambien hay comedias presentadas por los miembros, canciones espanolas, y cosas semejantes.

VESTA CLUB

The Vesta Club was organized in May, 1921, for the purpose of creating, among the girls, a greater interest in home economics. Only those girls taking home economics, or those having had two years, are eligible to the club. Miss Baskin is adviser of the club.

The programs are usually on some problem concerning home economics or girls particularly. The social events of the club vary with the season. This year we have had a line party, taffy pull, some feasts, and some trips down town, such as the one to the Food Show.

PEP CLUB

"The Northeast Pep Club" was organized during the first term of the school year 1928-29, for the purpose of furthering good sportsmanship and loyalty to Northeast in every activity. Mr. Laury as adviser has succeeded in arousing enthusiastic support of the teams, and loyalty to our contestants.

The fifty members could be recognized by their megaphones at the football games, their purple and white skull caps at the basketball games, and by their noisy support of our contestants in the Civic Forum and Star's Oratorical Contests which they attended as a group, serving as a nucleus for the cheering section.

THE SPECIAL BAND

The Special Band, directed by Mr. Walter French, was very much larger this year than it has been for some years. The band is composed of ten cornets, eighteen clarinets, one flute, one saxophone, four melophones, three trombones, and one bass. The band started in with the rudiments of music. Now, are playing somewhat advanced music. Most of the pupils expect to go into the advance band next year.

NORTHEAST GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club this year, though composed of only twenty-one members, had some fine matured voices and was well balanced. Although the Glee Club cup was lost this year, Northeast was considered one of the best in the city. Following Mr. Chaffee's practice of past years, much time was given to vocal exercises. This developed the full, matured quality heard in the boys' voices this year.

The boys' contest piece this year was "On The Sea" by Dudley Buck. Another piece was "Morning". This was sung in assembly and Northeast night.

TREBLE CLEF CLUB

The primary purpose of the Treble Clef Club is to create a love and appreciation for good music, and to learn to sing correctly and secondly, to attain the standard necessary to win in the annual Music Contest.

The social event of the club is a joint picnic with the Glee Club.

The events which consume all the attention of the organization are the annual Music Contest, the Solo Contest, and the Cantata.

The mixed octette won first place in Kansas City; the triple trio took second place, and the alto solo received third place at the Solo Contest this year.

ORCHESTRA

The advanced orchestra, under the direction of Mr. F. E. Chaffee, although not having every opportunity to show what it is capable of this year has been prepared for any emergency that might arise.

A few of the selections most worthy of mention that were played by the orchestra are: "Pique Dame" by Suppe; "Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna," also by Suppe; "Echoes from the Metropolitan Opera," by T. Moses Tolani; and "If I Were King" by Adam. The last piece is the one to be played at the graduation exercises.

THE NORTHEAST BAND

The advanced band this year is the largest and most complete band Northeast has ever had. It is composed of forty-five members, many of whom have been in the band two and, in some cases, three years.

The band has played at almost all school athletic events and for the Missouri Valley Track Conference. It furnished the music one night of the Christmas Play and all the instrumental music Northeast night. Mr. French, director, is considered one of the best high school band directors in this section of the country. He will direct the all-star high school band for the May music festival.

Row 4—Kundo; Cloverdyke; Haines; McCance; Abell; Rendshaw; Gifford; Harrison.

QUILTING CLUB

The Quilting Club was organized in September, 1928. At present we have thirteen regular members. The purpose of the club as the name indicates, is to piece quilts and spend a social hour together.

The officers and regular members of the first semester were Aileen Record, president; Lena Hughart, vice president; Frances Peake, secretary; Matoaka Pressley, reporter; Vivian Henderson, Lucille Hazlett, Edna Baker, Helen Fuller, Helen Gemmett, Ellen McDowell, Dorothy McChan, Hazel Miller, Wanda Rowley, Bertha Schuble, Beulah Schuble, Violet Yancey, Doris Schwenk and Romaine Bootman.

The officers and new members of the second semester are Wanda Rawley, president; Helen Fuller, vice-president; Dorothy McChan, secretary; Ellen McDowell, reporter; Lillian Gunther, Lyda Kelsey and Thelma Roberts.

The girls are planning a steak fry for their social event this semester. They plan to display the quilts that are finished before the end of the year.

THE TRAVEL CLUB

The members of the Travel Club are Elsie Bernard, Bernice Bicknell, Evelyn Bowman, Martha Warner, Helen Wells, Evelyn Stewart, Florence Hargis, Frank Schuybach, Elizabeth Walker, Marion Tollakston, Glenna Whaley, Dorothy Parsons, Virginia Kelly, Wilma Randell, Ethel Naylor.

The first semester officers were: President, Martha Warner; Vice-President, Bernice Bicknell; Secretary, Glenna Whaley; Reporter, Helen Wells; Initiator, Dorothy Parsons.

The second semester officers were: President, Glenna Whaley; Vice-President, Florence Hargis; Secretary, Elizabeth Walker; Reporter, Helen Wells; Initiator, Dorothy Parsons.

The purpose of the Travel Club is to give its members an opportunity to learn of places of interest to travelers in foreign countries and in America. We learn of these places from talks by people who have visited them.

Our emblem is a stately Viking ship bearing our colors, two shades of blue.

THE WRITER'S CLUB

At the regular sessions of this newly established club, the future critics, columnists, playwrights, essayists, novelists, poets, humorists, and erstwhile men of letters of the younger generation met with the two-fold purpose of studying modern literature, and passing judgment on the individual efforts offered by the members. Under the supervision of Miss Frances Spencer, the club feels that its first year has been very profitable and indicative of future strength and success.

The officers for the entire year were:

President	Sherwood Newton
Vice-President	Ellen Yort
Secretary	Edythe Williams

Other members are: Guila Aker, Faith Hawley, Bonnelle De Haven, Morris Dubiner, Dorothy Rea Flensburg, Ruth Hill, Pearl Hogg, Miriam Holzapfel, Evelyn McDaniels and Richard Meek.

Athletic Officers

Mr. Barry Fulton

Coach Peters

Mr. M. E. Davis

Where championship teams are produced, there one will find championship leadership. This can be said of Northeast.

Mr. Reeves Peters, during his eight years at Northeast, has an enviable record. He has brought Northeast athletes into national prominence through his excellent coaching ability. His teams are known for their sportsmanship, competition, and clean, hard play.

Mr. Fulton has made our team possible by his good management of financial affairs, which he has placed on a paying basis.

Mr. M. E. Davis, assistant coach, has been doing his share by developing new material for the coming season in sports.

At the close of the Interscholastic league schedule, the "Vikings" were found to be in sixth place. From the standpoint of games won, the season was not a good one for Northeast, but it was not a bad one. It brought disappointments, to be sure, but we were woefully lacking in veterans. The team was well coached and outside a tendency to fumble, it functioned well in every game. Captain Reed drove his mates hard. He fought for the team and they both fought for Northeast. At the close of the season, Dwight Davis, halfback, was elected to lead the "Vikings" of next year. He is a fine player and should make a successful captain.

"The Vikings" opened their gridiron season with a defeat at the hands of the St. Joseph Central, 26-7. The score does not indicate the ability of the Purple warriors, who, despite the fact that they were inexperienced, outgamed and outplayed their opponents.

A 6-6 tie was the result of the opening of the Interscholastic league, with the Westport Tigers. This game was a duplicate of the preceding contest with St. Joe Central. The "Vikings" outplayed the Tigers but lacked the punch to win.

The second round of the league found the "Vikings" scheduled to play their hereditary opponents, for athletic laurels, Central. The teams fought to a standstill in the first half, but the second period saw the strong Central eleven pull away from the Viking ship to win 19-0.

Northeast journeyed to Lawrence for competition after the Central game. The Viking gridders were snowed under to the score of 28-0, by the heavy Lawrence aggregation.

The next encounter, with East, resulted in a 7-7 tie. The Vikings gave East their only tally through a perfect fumbling attack. Manuer was the lone Purple threat for the "Vikings".

The Southwest game was played on a muddy field that hampered the team play of both aggregations. The Indians were rated as heavy favorites in this fray, but the improved Viking offense and defense, quickly stopped the Southsiders. The game ended in a 0-0 tie, as the Purple was six inches from the Southsiders goal.

The less said the better about this game. Due to the sensational runs of Mibbs Golding, fullback, the Buccaneers sank the Viking ship to the tune of 31-0.

The final game found Northeast opposing Manual. It was a hard fought contest. "Red" Davis, captain-elect, was the star of the game. Lloyd's drop kick decided the game in the Crimson's favor 7-6.

Basketball

For the first time in two years the Northeast basketball team did not get to attend the state tournament held at Columbia. At the crucial game of the year—if won would have put the Vikings in a tie for first place—one of the Purple and White mainstays was injured while playing and their opponents at the height of their ability swept over Northeast's defense to win.

Coach Peters' basketeers opened their court season with a victory over De LaSalle Academy 21-12. The Viking defense was the outstanding feature of the tilt.

On December 27, the Alumni returned to see if the team would be ready for Inter-scholastic competition. In a hotly contested battle, of which Renfro was the star, they were defeated by a score of 29-19. Approximately twenty grads took part in the game.

Northeast's first inter-scholastic game and victory this season was ushered in by the defeat of Westport in a one-sided contest which the Petersmen were never in danger. The final count showed the count to be 34-16. Kubiak, Viking center and member of the All-star quintet, scored 19 of the total number of points.

The Wyandotte Bulldogs dealt Northeast the first defeat of the season in a close contest, 20-16. Northeast got away to an early lead but was not able to keep the pace which they had set. Renfro played a stellar role in this fray and collected 12 points.

The second round of Inter-scholastic play saw Northeast and Central matched. The game was one thrill after another until the final whistle. The end of the game saw the score 24-24. Hummon, guard, saved the day after Dillon of Central had dropped a goal. The final count stood at 28-26.

Northeast went out of town for competition the next week. Central High School at St. Joseph was chosen for the victims of a fierce Viking attack. In an easy game the Purple triumphed over their hosts by a count of 25-14.

The most disappointing game of the year was the contest with East. Earl Renfro, Viking captain and stellar forward, was declared ineligible for competition because of the nine semester ruling. With the loss of Earl the Green and White scored almost at will and the Viking defense was penetrated from time to time. Light, diminutive East forward, gathered 14 points to help East win the contest. The final whistle found the score 36-17.

The Vikings met Southwest determined to do or die. For a while it looked as if they were going to produce but the fast Apache quintet came from behind to win 18-15. The defeat blasted Northeast's hopes for a championship.

The next round of competition Paseo was the unfortunate. She took the small end of a 23-11 score. Kubiak could not be stopped and he paved the way to a berth on the mythical all-star quintet. The Viking defense was strengthened so as to prevent any amount of scoring by the Pirates.

Manual threatened to deal a defeat to the Vikings but the turn of events came at the last period and the Crimson was humbled by a swift Purple attack. Maneur was the star of this contest with seven points to credit in addition to his superb floor work.

The Viking court schedule came to a close with a victory over the Rockhurst Hawks. Rockhurst later represented Kansas City in the National Catholic tournament at Chicago. The Purple forwards were given credit for the victory with fast offensive work. The final whistle of the season gave the Vikings a 29-25 win.

Cheer Leaders

Frank Rogers

Art Young

"Forry" Thorpe

Merwin Brown

Throughout the year in all athletic events, the Viking cheer leaders have contributed much in keeping the morale of the team. Northeast is proud of those cheer leaders who have aided in promoting sportsmanlike conduct among those who attended the school contest.

Frank Rogers was one of the finest cheer leaders Northeast ever had. His ability to conform his movements to the cheers of the crowd greatly aided the rooting section. Frank was the only veteran in the trio, having filled the capacity during his junior year. His pep and smiling countenance will be missed in athletic circles.

Merwin Brown, a Junior, has established a fine record during his year of service as a cheer leader. Much is expected of Merwin next year.

Arthur Young, a Junior, is the third member of the trio. Art has distinguished himself as a cheer leader of ability and he is expected to fill a position as a member of the cheering squad next year.

Forest Thorpe, alternate cheer leader, and a Senior, has distinguished himself by filling the position of an absent cheer leader in a capable manner.

*Row 1—Gresson; Lynch; Olono; Brewer; Tauber; Conkey; Joergens.

The Northeast "N" Club differs from all other organizations, in that it has no social functions and no regular meetings. Those who have reached the highest goal in athletics, winner of the coveted "N", are eligible for membership. It has done much in advancing the school spirit and sportsmanship of those men who try out for the athletic teams.

The club has a tradition behind it, and any boy would deem it an honor to have the privilege of wearing its insignia.

A winner of a football or basketball letter must have played a majority of the quarters during the season of sport. Those who advance to the semi-finals in the annual inter-scholastic tournament are awarded tennis letters. Track men must place first or second to a Northeast man in a dual meet or go to the finals in an indoor meet, city meet, or state meet to win the coveted insignia.

Track

Northeast has always been favored with a track team that does credit to the school and the coach. The track season of 1929 is no exception to the rule.

Although Coach Peters has only six letter men, to use as a nucleus for the 1929 cinder edition, he has rounded a formidable array of cinder artists that will make a strong bid for the city and state title.

The Vikings entered both the M. U. and K. C. A. C. indoor meets at Convention Hall. In both events they got fourth place.

The outdoor season started off with a "bang". Northeast met Manual and Southwest in a triangular meet. Getting six first places, the Vikings triumphed over their opponents. Captain Stanley Kubiak won both sets of hurdles and received the honor of being high point man.

The next meet was with William Chrisman of Independence, Mo. The Vikings and Bears clashed in a full battle, from which the Vikings emerged with the Bears pelt.

Not acknowledging defeat the first time, Southwest returned to engage Northeast in a dual meet. With several Vikings out because of injuries, the second stringers administered a defeat to the Indians.

Some of the outstanding track athletes at Northeast this year are:

Captain Stanley Kubiak, a sure point winner in the hurdles and a pole vaulter of ability. Stan will be seen in the Purple and White colors next year.

Paul Snively ranks next to Kubiak for the hurdles.

Neal Callahan ranks as one of the best high jumpers in the city. He is also a fairly good distance runner. Russel Dunn ranks next to Neal in the high jump.

Phillip Burgess, Ray Hudgens and Tony Maneur take care of the shot-put in a very capable manner. Tony is also a half-mile runner of distinction.

David Link, George Joergens, Tom Benson and Robert Browne take care of the sprint to the best of their ability. Brown and Joergens will return next year.

Andrew Porter and Frank Springer do the broad jumping for the Vikings. Both make good jumps in this event.

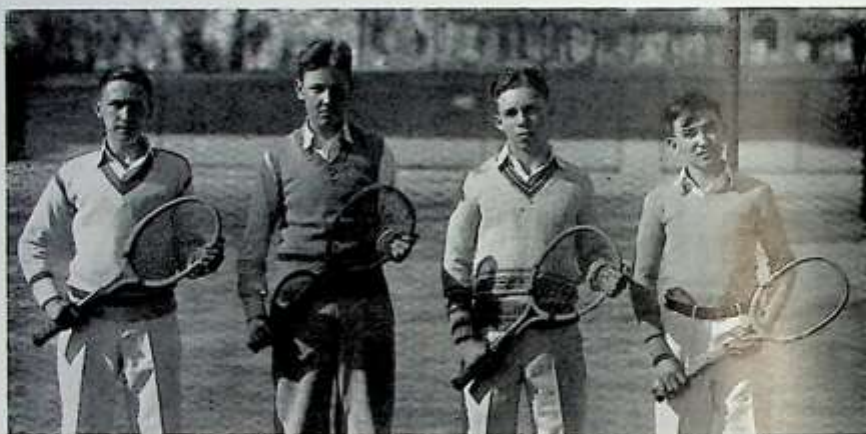

Richard Masters is gaining recognition as a pole vaulter. He is making fair marks this year and should be one of the best next track season.

The Track Meet is the last athletic event of the year and in it the girls may make their mark, not as a team, but as an individual. The training which has been received throughout the girls' school life helps her in the track meet. A very exciting event is expected this year, due to the fact that there is some of the best material at Northeast that we have ever had. In track, as in all other events, the aim of the department is kept in mind: strong muscles, healthy bodies, clear minds and clean sports.

Tennis

Herman Mercer

Bert Knighton

William Monahan

Charles Smith

Northeast tennis representatives did not bring home any glory to the school, but nevertheless they had the Viking spirit to fight until the end of the game. Coach M. E. Davis instructed the tennis men on the fine arts of the game.

William Monahan and Charles Smith entered in the doubles but were eliminated in the first round by Westport. Bert Knighton and Ernest Johnson were the alternates in the doubles for Northeast.

Jay Campbell and Herman Mercer did good work in the singles. Herman Mercer in his first round drew as his opponent, Hay of Central. In a bitterly contested match Mercer went down in defeat.

Jay Campbell, by good playing, advanced to the semi-finals where he was defeated by the Southwest representative.

The Northeast Olympic Association is an organization for the girls in the Physical Education Department at Northeast. This club was organized in the year 1919-1920 under the supervision of Miss Stewart, who is still the faculty advisor for the association. The object of the club is to develop skill in certain athletic enterprises which class time does not permit, and to promote the spirit of fair play and good, clean sportsmanship among the girls.

To be admitted to this organization, a girl must have twenty-five points. She is then automatically made a member, provided her grades reach the average. A certain number of points are given for each of the following sports: hockey, 10; volley ball, 5; basket ball, 10; base ball, 10; track, 10; swimming, 10; hiking, 10; and dancing, 10.

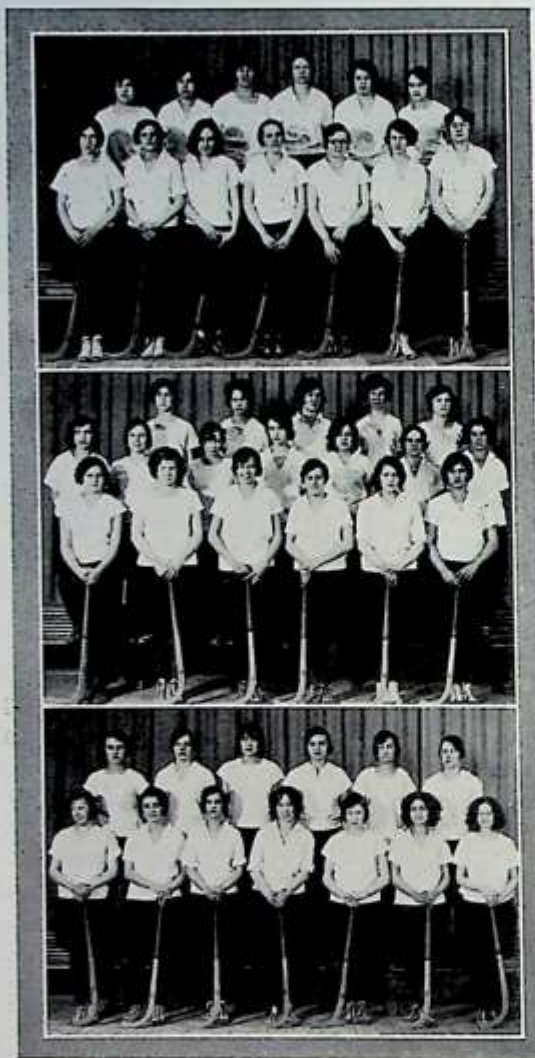

In addition to the interclass games, the Olympians have groups of teams which compete, adding interest and enjoyment to the meetings.

Of all the sports and athletics of the year, field hockey, a game which originated in England, comes first. It is a fall sport, played on a regulation football field. To have a complete lineup one must have eleven players, five forwards, three halfbacks, two fullbacks and a goal keeper. Our inter class tournament was played off during the month of November. This year the Seniors won the championship, losing only one game. The splendid team work and sportsmanship of the Sophomores and Juniors promises an exciting tournament next year. For a girl to receive ten athletic points in hockey, she must participate in at least two tournament games.

Miss Stewart, girls' physical education instructor, was in charge.

Row 1—Boehm; Shaw; Harvey; Tate; Hoover; Deethridge.

Basket Ball, the mid-season major sport for girls, is a very captivating one. The class games this year were well played, as the teams were so evenly matched. About fifty girls won their ten athletic points and their class numerals, which were given for participation in two match games. The Senior Class won the championship and the Sophomores finished second.

Volley Ball

SENIOR VOLLEY BALL

Row 1—Bryand; Scheuchel; Tate; Shaw,
Capt.; Porter; Armstrong;
Amos.

The volley ball games were enthusiastically received by a large group of girls as can readily be seen by the number of girls receiving their five points in this sport. There were fifty-nine girls who fulfilled the requirements to receive their points, and played the game on a fair and square basis, and did their utmost to help the captains. There were more Sophomore spectators at the games than were upper classmen, and they did a great deal to help their team in playing their games. It was not because there was little sportsmanship shown that these Sophomores lost, but because they had fewer years of practice in which to perfect their game. The Juniors and Seniors lined up to expectations when they placed second, and first, respectively. The games were refereed by the manager, and by the Junior and Sophomore captains.

The dancing classes, under the supervision of Miss Stewart enjoy the training and work earnestly to participate in the annual dances. Dancing lends poise and grace to the pupils, and the girls who have studied dancing in the physical education department have derived much benefit from it.

The success of the R. O. T. C. Circus, the Northeast Night program and the State Teachers' Convention is due in part, at least, to the splendid work of the girls who danced at these events. Those who saw the dances will never forget the colorful costumes and technique displayed in the beautiful Hungarian dance and in the rhythmic Highland-Fling, both of which were presented at Convention Hall.

Swimming

Row 2—Simms; McBride; Goodwillie; Gardner; Smith; Saunders; Shilling; Rookong.
Row 2—Denson; Stewart; Thayer; Miss Clayton; Ackerson; Bliss; Peterson; Tate.
Row 1—Nall; Skaggs; Curtis, L.; Curtis, C.; Love; Davis; Allen.

Of all girls' sports swimming is the sport in which the most girls participate. Every girl in the gym department is required to swim, and each year a larger number perfect their strokes, endurance and speed, enough to pass the American Red Cross Life Saving Test.

The test is the only one universally organized and consists of approaching a drowning person, correctly breaking death grips, towing them safely to land, and applying resuscitation and first aid. In addition a girl who passes the Jr. Life Saving test must swim one-fourth mile and one who passes the Senior Test must swim one mile.

The aim of every good swimmer is to pass their Life Saving Test. Many passed it last year and many more expect to this year.

Track

In volley ball, basket ball, and hockey, a girl may be a factor in helping her team to attain the inter-class championship. Track is the only sport for girls in which the athlete may make her mark as an individual.

One may enter track to compete in the dash, relay, broad jump, high jump, hop-step-and-jump, basket ball and baseball throws. The classes are coached from the first of the term, indoors and later out of doors, when the weather is favorable. The results are quite gratifying and some excellent records have been made at Northeast.

Training for track has proved itself very beneficial to the athletically inclined girl and in this sport, as in all other sports, the high purpose of physical training has been held in mind; healthy bodies and minds; strong muscles, not large; and ideals of true, clean sportsmanship.

TRACK RECORDS

60-yard dash	8.2 sec.
75-yard dash	8.6 sec.
50-yard relay	39.9 sec.
Broad jump	14 ft., 2 in.
Hop, step and jump.....	29 ft., 2 in.
Basketball throw	65 ft.
Baseball throw	175 ft.
High jump	4 ft., 4 in.

Baseball

Baseball, one of the favorite sports, ends the season for the girls of the athletic department. The interclass tournament is half over now and the Seniors are leading with 2 victories and no defeats. Both the Sophomores and Juniors have given the Seniors close competition. Ten points, and a chevron or numerals are given to every girl who participates in at least two games.

All of the games have been played on the football field, following the indoor baseball rules. The girls' athletic department has secured new outdoor baseball bases, and a home plate, which make the games more interesting. Miss Stewart coaches the Juniors and Seniors, and Miss Clayton is in charge of the Sophomores.

RESUME

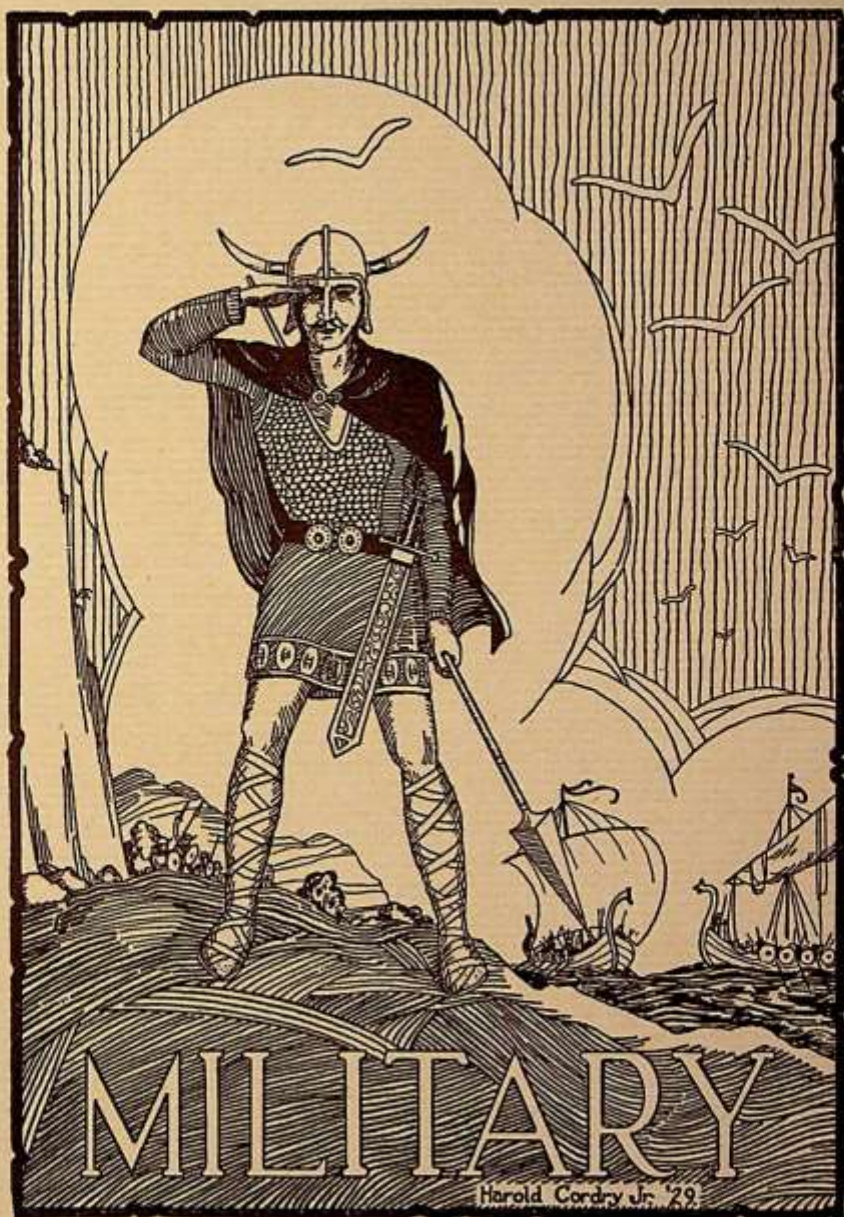

The Physical Education Department for girls at Northeast High School, several years ago adopted a point system used in most universities, but adjusted to the needs of high school girls.

When a girl plays in two interclass games of a major sport she is given 10 athletic points. For the first series in which she participates, she is given her numerals and for every sport thereafter, a chevron. After winning twenty-five points, she is automatically admitted into the Olympic Association; fifty points, she is allowed to wear her pin; seventy-five points, she receives a small N; 100 points, a large N; 125 points, a felt seal; and two hundred points, she is allowed to purchase a purple blanket.

This year we had a large number of girls taking part in sports. About seventy girls have won their numerals.

More than two hundred chevrons, twenty-four small Ns, twelve large Ns, and 10 felt seals will be given.

This company lead the battalion in the annual theoretical test and the annual inspection given by Captain Harry E. Mitchell, the P. M. S. and T. of Kansas City. The men have shown an unusual interest in their work which has been an important factor in their success.

Herd in the Halls

Ain't it the Truth?

Miss Packard having her class take eye exercises: What's the matter Harley, there's nothing the matter with your eyes is there?

Harley Ferguson: "No, but once I did go to a doctor and he told me I had no control over my eyes."

"Now! Who's the best student?"

His First Buss Ride

Tony Maneur got on the bus at Montgomery Wards and rode to McGee and thought it was Grand.

Surest way to popularity:
Take a fountain pen to school.

Don Macey: Hear the story about the two men?

Jay C.: No, what is it?
D. M.: He—he.

Mr. Miller: (In Commercial Arith. Class, calling out numbers to be added.)

Bright Stude: "Say, are there any cents to these figures?"

Teacher called for a paper on sports. John selected baseball as his subject, and his paper read, "Rain, no game."

A kiss is something like gossip—it goes from mouth to mouth.

Miss Clark: (In art class) "I want you to make the school emblem, the Viking ship, in low relief."

Roy Conkey: (Thoughtfully) Wouldn't a ship in relief be a life boat?"

Mr. G. W. Davis: (In class discussion) "Has anyone ever seen a 'hydraulic ram'?" Sweet voice: "Oh, yes! We have one at home."

G. W. D.: "Will you please explain to the class how it works?"

S. W.: "Oh! It works just beautifully."

Mr. Davis says: Pupils in grade school invite their parents to visit their teachers. In high school they dare them to.

Favorite Sayings by Teachers and Pupils:

Mr. Chapin: We will now have a selection by the orchestra, etc.

Emogene Horn: May I borrow your compact?

Margaret Baum: This sort of thing goes on for hours at a time so if anyone wants to leave, let him do so now.

Chuck Smith: Will the meeting of the Nor'easter Annual Staff please come to order?

Mr. Pickens: Why didn't you get that news story?

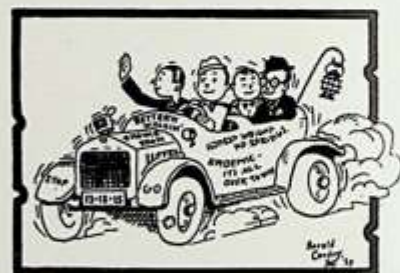

Miss Grube: Write that shorthand 15 times and read it 15 times.

Patricia McGuirk: I faw do'n and do boom! (only I go bang).

Jean Conderman: I don't know.

Arthur Young: Common gang! Let's give so and so the Razberries.

Harley Ferguson: Oh, is that a dog? When I first looked at it I thought it was your knittin' fore it moved.

(In a note a Soph. wrote.): "I hear there are two different Mr. Davis' teaching here. Mr. G. W. Davis and Mr. Emmy Davis."

Mr. Fate: "In what way are frogs and men alike?"

Wythe Brewer: "Let's see—well, frogs croak and so do men (sooner or later)."

Mr. Pickens: "Milton, you have made your hero a little hot headed, I am afraid."

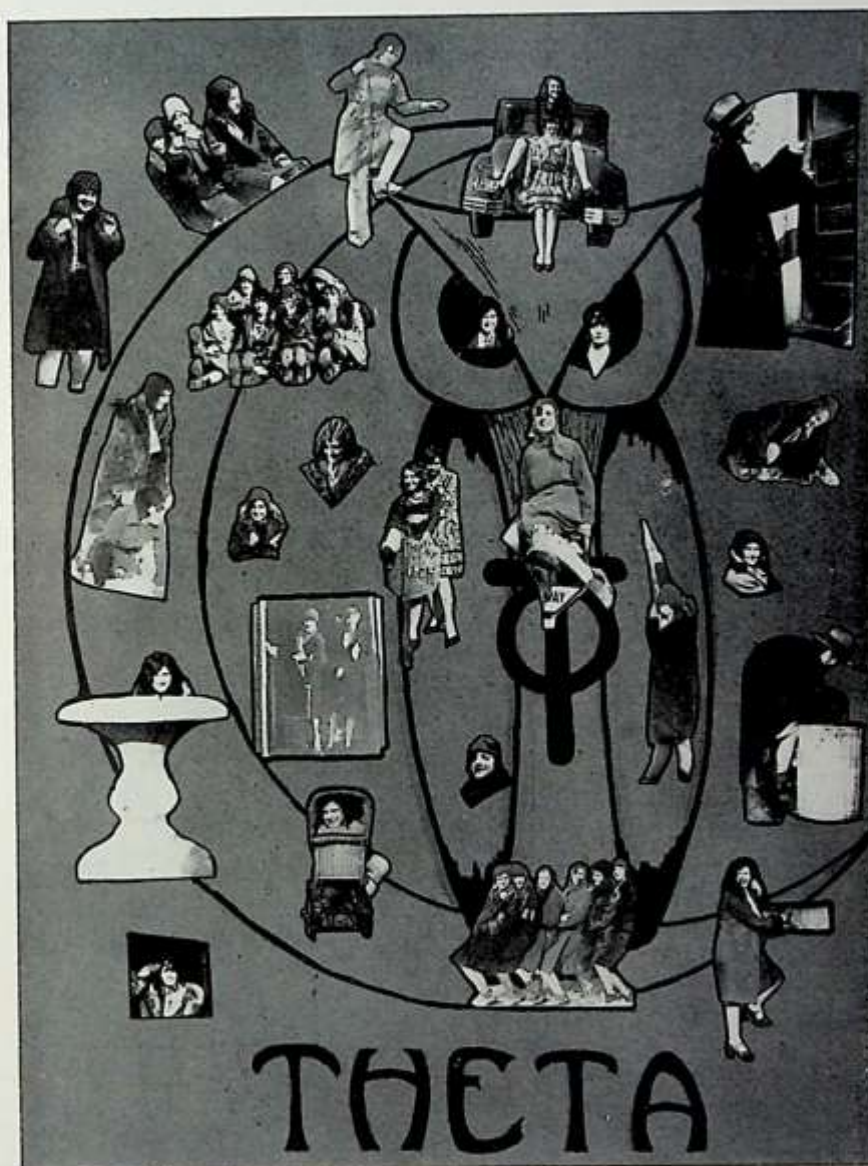

Milton Bobier: "What do you mean?"

Mr. Pickens: He has a lantern jaw to begin with and his face lit up. His cheeks flamed, he gave a burning glance and then blazing with wrath and boiling with rage, he administered a scorching rebuke."

Mr. Ball (in zoology class): "Give your idea of a parasite."

Mitchell Coxwell: "Somebody that goes through a revolving door without pushing"

Wanted !!!

A wheel barrow by Helenruth Teller.

By request of the 4th year Latin Sharks.

Contributions toward a car for Mr. Fulton.

"Bud" Lee orders a new blond. Must be five feet high.

"Frogs" is the cry raised by the Zoology students. For Dissection.

Glasses for Roy Conkey. It has been reported that he has had considerable trouble seeing the E's on his card.

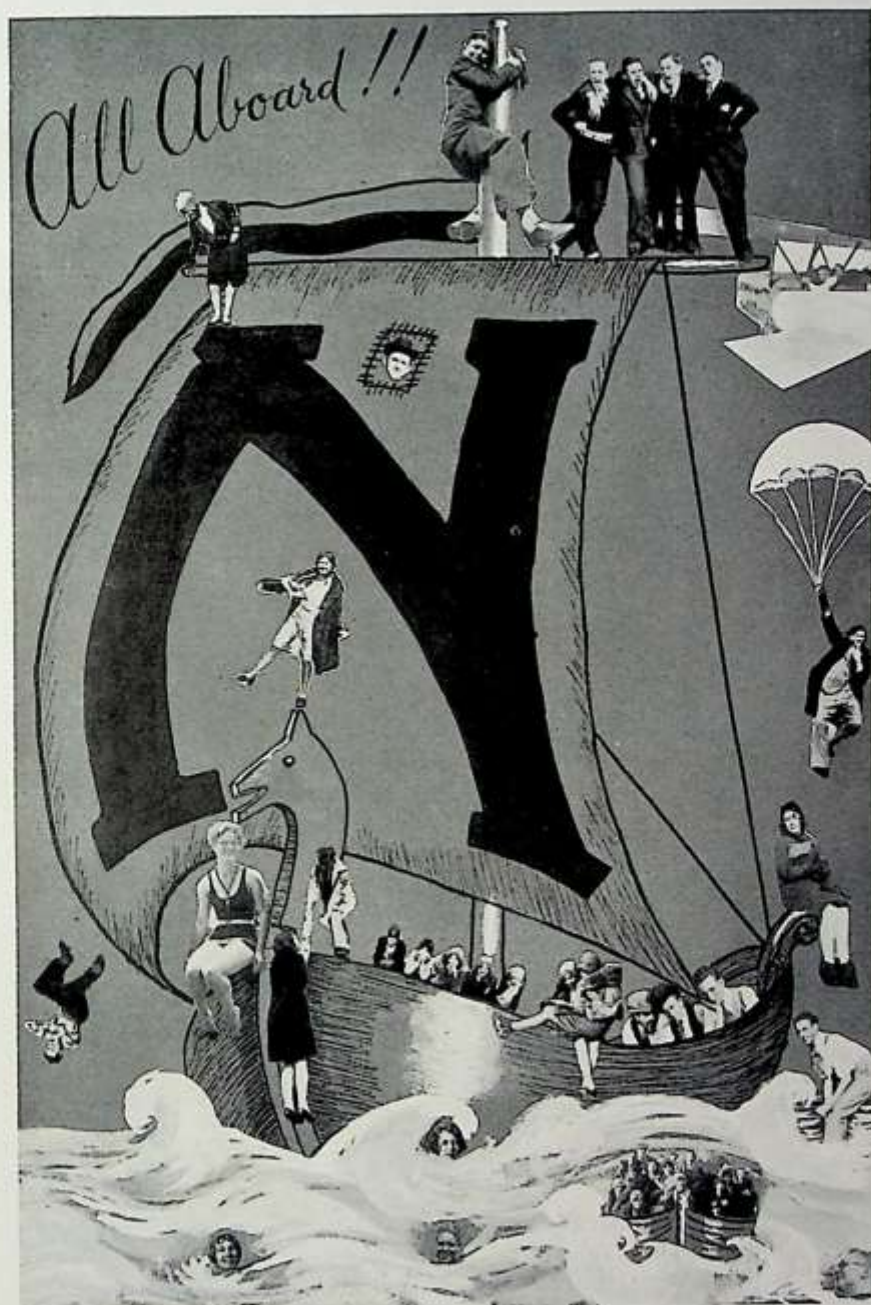

Maxim silencer by the newswriting classes. To be used applied toward a good cause. Liberal reward for effective gag on Mr. Pickens.

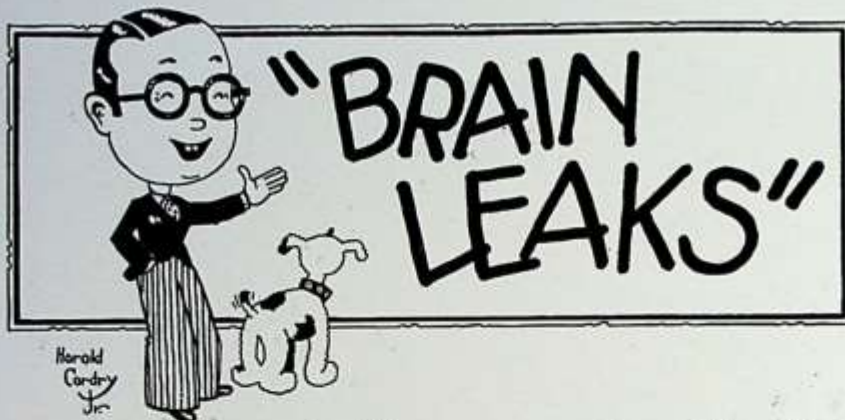

Frank Rogers has sent out a plea for a megaphone.

we going to do with it?

It isn't the man who

Dear Editor:

I hate to write you this letter causing you lots of worry but the time has come when I must ask your judgment on a very serious question. It has caused me many days of anxiety and nights of restlessness still I felt that you should know the worst
at once, for in all sincerity it means life or death to me. So in my distress and perplexity of mind, I can say only to you in deciding this important question, lay aside your friendship and tell me from the fulness of your heart, tell me truly, do you think
Jeff will EVER be as big as Mutt?

Yours truly,
P. M.

Where's the Capital of

Most of it's in Europe.

"I lost a fine umbrella

"How's that?"
"I met the owner."

Just Among Us Girls
Wouldn't it be a sensation
To have Juanita's eyes.
And truly an admiration
If you were Harley's size?
Wouldn't it be too wonderful
To have Marg Baldwin's clothes?
And along with all these
Have Thelma's little nose?

Every time Mary took her lamb to school, the teacher said she'd lamb
Mary.

3000 Years Hence
3000 years to come there were
Some beautiful girls
from Mars
Who flew in a silent airplane
Out from the heaven of stars.

Down to this earth below
they came

To dig up the Vikings
home
This as you know was N.
E. High
Which they dug as
'twere ancient Rome.

Did they bring any boy friends along to help?

"No, indeed" they did say.

They feared such a feat
was too dangerous
And made the poor deats
stay away.

All queer things we in there find.

Those primitive classrooms (a tad)
A pool of water by the gym.

Why, what queer bath
tubs they had!

A large room though an auditorium

A lunch room found 'tis true

And cosmetics galore
found in lockers.

Girls had shinny noses
then too.

Hours Vikings wasted by Sleeping, speaking, typing, and thinking!

That's four

While today we have electric devices

Which do all things for us and more.

A once popular musical instrument

Among the Vikings bold
We found. It's said to be a piano

Or so the story is told.

History states also between earth and
Mars

The Vikings knew no communication

While in the history we're making now.

Each planet's but a station.

Did you ever sit and try to concentrate
When you're doin' overtime,
And you simply couldn't do it
For all the things on your mind.
When the hands of the clock stand at ten
And you have a half hour yet to stay,
Trust when you wish you hadn't
Been late to school that day.
